Artistry and compassion define Dr. Maloney. His small town upbringing in the heartland of the country is carried over in the fact that he resides on a horse farm in Milton. He chose to become a facial plastic surgeon because the unique specialty demanded the exactness and precision of its procedure, combined with artistry and understanding of the complex facial structures.

Dr. Maloney is a recognized leader in the field of facial plastic surgery, having authored over 80 book chapters and articles and lectured around the world on advances in the field. The specialness of Dr. Maloney's approach has been featured multiple times on Discovery Health, The Learning Channel, CNN and MSNBC. He is a national educator for Allergan, teaching doctors and nurses from around the world how to use BOTOX and fillers.

The male look is very different than the female look: consisting of strong jawlines, chiseled cheeks and low eyebrows. "A handsome man is one whose features are all in balance and work together." Using a computer imager, Dr. Maloney demonstrates possible benefits of the procedures to achieve a natural male look. Dr. Maloney attributes his large male patient base to his ability to relate to men and offer them options that allow them to achieve their goals discretely and easily.

The modern man is sophisticated. He has many layers and is always looking for the next challenge, being the best that he can be, in work and personal life. Sharpen your edge and discover why men from around the world have chosen Dr Maloney to perform their procedures.

“Helping the discerning man achieve and keep their look.” — DR. MALONEY
